Prefatory Note.

At their Annual Meeting in June, 1899, the Trustees of Trinity College authorized the Faculty to issue a Bulletin. This pamphlet is published as its first number.

The objects of such a publication are, first, to preserve and furnish information regarding the history of the College, and especially regarding its founders and deceased benefactors and graduates; secondly, to keep a careful, continuous record of its living graduates and friends; thirdly, to give fuller and more frequent information of the work, progress and present condition of the College than it is possible to give in the annual catalogue; fourthly, to be a medium for the presentation of suggestions regarding future advance.

The ultimate scope and plan of The Bulletin will be such as experience shall recommend. The Bulletin will ordinarily be a little pamphlet. Sometimes it may be a mere leaflet. It will appear four times a year, unless there occur reasons for a change of plan. It is proposed to send one copy gratuitously to each officer, alumnus, honorarius, and special friend of the College; to send certain issues to newspapers, libraries and schools, and to furnish it on application for a small price.

A college should know every graduate in every calling in every part of the world. Every son should have the assurance of the constant and kindly sympathy of the Academic Mother in every stage of his career. The result must be felt in the advancement of the college. The cordial regard of the whole body of the alumni and their earnest co-operation in the measure of the ability of each, is a much surer dependence than the anticipation of possible benefactions from strangers.

The lists that form the greater part of this bulletin are based upon two card catalogues, that have been prepared in the endeavor to promote the knowledge of the graduates by the College, and the knowledge by the graduates of one another. Many deficiencies and some inaccuracies will be noticed. As the catalogues are card catalogues, any additions and corrections can be easily made. Thanks are returned to the graduates who have so generally and so kindly answered the too informal cards of inquiry recently sent to many of them.

It was the hope of the compiler to be able to give the business and residence address, special occupation, business relation, and official position of each graduate. No attempt has been made to present statistics in the present defective condition of the lists. When these are more perfect, statistics will be given that will show the whole work of the living graduates of Trinity College. Meantime it will be apparent from the few data furnished that the graduates of Trinity College have achieved in proportion to their numbers a notable degree of success in the most varied walks of life, and one not surpassed by that of the graduates of any college in proportion to number.

Trinity has among her living graduates architects, artists, authors, bankers, chemists, insurance presidents, journalists, manufacturers, merchants, railroad presidents, as well as lawyers and physicians, and a great and glorious company of bishops and doctors of divinity and clergymen whose highest title is recorded in the grateful hearts of thousands made better by their ministry.

It has been pleasant to note that many of the recent graduates in science have attained immediately to positions from which they seem likely to rise surely to great practical usefulness.

It was certainly the wish of the founders of the College that its graduates should make their influence honorably felt in every activity of the national life.

The classification of the graduates by residence demonstrates conclusively that Trinity College is in the highest sense a national institution. Scarcely a state or territory is without at least one representative of Trinity College. Trinity men, while more numerous in the great centers of population, are scattered through the whole land.

The list according to residence will help Trinity men to know one another, work for one another, and work for the College.

Limitations of time and strength have prevented the addition to the lists given of similar lists of the living honorarii of the College and of former students now living who have been in one of the regular courses, and have not completed it, or who have been special students. The last two classes of men have often attained high distinction, and almost without exception have as keen an interest in the College as if they possessed diplomas of graduation. It is hoped that a future number of The Bulletin may supply these omissions.

Here and there in this pamphlet is noted the name of a Class Secretary. Each class should have a secretary. It is suggested that he send a reply postal card twice a year to each class-mate, and send the answers to The Bulletin for publication.

In time it is hoped that it may be possible to have a Concise Biographical Dictionary of Trinity College that will record the career of every founder, benefactor and alumnus of the institution. The founders of the College intended that it should be a College of the whole Church and the whole Nation, at first good though small, and finally good, strong, great in numbers and in influence. There is much talk of "the small colleges." The term is taken to connote poverty of resources and inefficiency. Trinity College has aside from its buildings a capital in interest-bearing funds equal to one-third of that of Yale when President Dwight assumed the presidency. It has an equipment such as no college in the land possessed but a short time ago, notably in the matter of chemical and physical laboratories. It has made a progress so firm and steady that a great future may be anticipated. With academic repugnance to self-assertion she has allowed herself to be little known to her own Church, to which she has rendered services so great, to her own devoted Alumni, and to the Nation at large, to whose welfare she can minister in vastly greater measure. The Bulletin will strive to make the College better known.

This publication disclaims at present all distinctly literary and scientific character. It is merely a compilation of such facts as it has been possible for a busy man to gather on short notice. Its success depends largely on the generosity of the alumni in sending to The Bulletin items of interest regarding themselves and their classmates. Any postal card, containing such an item, addressed to the Trinity College Bulletin, Trinity College, Hartford, Conn., will be gratefully received.

A future number will contain a picture of the new Hall of Natural History and plans of its interior. Another will seek to inform the graduates of the little known treasures of the Library and of the steps taken and necessary for its development.

AN ALPHABETICAL LIST OF THE LIVING GRADUATES OF TRINITY COLLEGE, WITH THEIR DEGREES AT GRADUATION AND IN COURSE, HONORARY AND PROFESSIONAL DEGREES, OCCUPATIONS, AND ADDRESSES.

Associations of the Alumni.

The Organization of a Michigan Association.

Fifteen graduates of Trinity College met at the Russell House, Detroit, Dec. 9th, 1899, for the purpose of organizing a Michigan Association of the Alumni of Trinity College, with Rev. G. E. Peters, of the class of 1850, in the chair. The purpose of the meeting was enthusiastically discussed and gratifying predictions were made, after which an election of officers resulted as follows :

President—Sidney T. Miller, class of 87.

Vice-President—N. C. Loveridge, of Coldwater, Mich., class of 86.

Secretary—A. K. Gage, class of 96.

Commissioners were appointed to correspond with Trinity College and attend to other routine matters connected with developing the organization.

The Michigan Alumni held a second meeting at the Russell House, Detroit, on the evening of March 31st, with about twenty of the graduates in attendance. The officers above mentioned were re-elected. The Association will hold its meetings hereafter on the second Tuesday in June and the second Tuesday in December.

Dinner of the Boston Association.

The Boston Alumni Association held its tenth annual reunion and banquet at the University Club, Boston, the evening of February 9th. The Rev. L. K. Storrs, 63, presided. The association had as its guests President Smith and Professor Thomas R. Pynchon, representing the college; William C. Skinner, of Hartford, president of the alumni association of the college ; the Rev. E. Winchester Donald, D. D., and Sherman L. Whipple, Yale, 81. At the business meeting the following officers were elected :

President, the Rev. E. T. Sullivan, 89 ; vice-presidents, W. C. Brocklesby, 69, the Rev. William Pressey, 90, and J. H. Goodspeed, 66 ; secretary, C. C. Barton, Jr., 93 ; treasurer, Horton G. Ide, 94 ; executive committee, Robert Walker, 91, C. F. Weed, 94, and J. M. McGann, 95.

Dr. Storrs, in introducing President Smith, called for the toast, "Trinity College," which was drunk standing. The president was greeted with the college cheer. He spoke of the intense loyalty of Trinity's sons. "Our men need not be ashamed," said he, "when compared with the men of other colleges. Your enthusiasm renews our faith and gives us courage to go on.

"More students entered Trinity this year than ever before, and the number in the academic course is the largest in the history of the college. Shall we increase our numbers ? is the question. The old idea was never to want more than 100 students. A small college, but one of the first class. An increase in students means an increase in expense. We lose many earnest men because we cannot compete with other colleges who can give scholarship aid.

"The character of Trinity would be much changed if we had 300 students. Some advantages of our present social life would be lacking. So there is ground for reluctance. How far we can go without changing the character of the college it is hard to determine. If we want to grow into a large college we can do so as well as any other college, but do we want this ?"

Professor T. R. Pynchon was introduced as a former president, and as one who was of old Trinity. He spoke of the growth of the alumni association in Boston. All those present, he said, had been pupils of his. He described the college as he remembered it when he was a boy.

Mr. William C. Skinner, president of the alumni association, said that, in the development of the body, the college was sadly lacking.

“What we should have,” said he, “is athletic advantages on an equal footing with other colleges.”

A letter from Professor F. S. Luther was read, in which the writer said that it would require $10,000 to improve the present grounds. Of this amount $3,000 has been subscribed. He urged that a committee be appointed by the Boston association to agitate the question and work to give the college what it sadly needed. In New York and Chicago this is being done, and the writer said he felt confident that Trinity would soon have what it needed in athletic grounds.

The Rev. E. Winchester Donald, D. D., and Mr. Sherman L. Whipple also spoke. Those present were :

L. T. Downes, 48 ; G. C. Tingley, 52 ; C. H. Seymour, 52 ; the Rev. L. K. Storrs, 63 ; J. H. Goodspeed, 66 ; W. C. Brocklesby, 69 ; C. C. Barton, 69 ; Lorin Webster, 80 ; E. F. Henderson, 82 ; L. W. Downes, 88 ; Wilson Waters, 88 ; E. T. Sullivan, 89 ; A. E. Douglass, 89 ; William Pressey, 90 ; G. W. Sargent, 90 ; L. W. Rogers, 91 ; Heyward Scudder, 91 ; W. P. Niles, 93 ; Reginald Pearce, 93 ; C. C. Barton, Jr., 93 ; P. R. Wesley, 94 ; H. G. Ide, 94 ; J. M. McGann, 95 ; H. W. Allen, 97 ; H. W. Hayward, 97 ; J. J. Penrose, 95 ; D. C. Graves, 98.

The members of the class of 99 resident in New York and vicinity have organized an association with a dozen members, which holds regular meetings.

News from the Classes.

1834 Dr. Gurdon W. Russell has recently undergone a successful operation for the relief of an affection of the eyes.

1851 Dr. Charles J. Hoadly has recovered from a severe illness and has resumed his work in the State Library.

1854 The Rev. Rufus Emery, for twenty-seven years rector of St. Paul's Episcopal Church at Newburgh, N. Y., has resigned on account of ill health, and removed to Newburyport, Mass., his birthplace. He was tutor in the college from 1855-1857.

1855 Walter Scott Dickson, a retired shoe manufacturer of Salem, Mass., has given Tufts College $50,000 for the purpose of establishing a new professorship. The only condition attending the endowment is that the Rev. Edwin C. Bolles, D. D., of the class of 55 in Trinity College, formerly pastor of the First Universalist Church of Salem, be made professor of English and American literature, at a salary of $2,000 a year for the rest of his natural life.

1857 The Rev. Edmund Rowland, D. D., rector of St. John's Church, Waterbury, read to his congregation April 1 a letter, in which he resigned his rectorship, the resignation to take effect July 1. Dr. Rowland will complete in June his sixteenth year as rector of St. John's Church. He said: "My reasons are good and sufficient, though not of a kind about which I care to say much. I do not wish any one to think, however, that my resignation is the outcome of any friction between myself and the members of my parish." His health is good and he does not intend to give up work.

1864 Colonel Robert W. Huntington, 64, has written to Secretary of State Huber Clark, acknowledging the receipt of the engrossed copy of the resolutions of the General Assembly of Connecticut expressing appreciation of his services in the Spanish War. In his letter Colonel Huntington says: "I desire to express my profound appreciation of this act, which seems to me exactly what I should have most wished to have fully deserved." Colonel Huntington was placed on the retired list Jan. 10th, and is now in Europe.

1866 A committee, consisting of Colonel William C. Skinner, 76, of Hartford, George L. Cooke, 70, of Providence, and Frederick E. Haight, 87, of New York, has sent out a circular to the alumni of Trinity College. The committee was appointed at the last meeting of the alumni to draft resolutions expressing appreciation by the alumni body of the services to the college rendered by the Rev. Dr. Samuel Hart, 66, who recently resigned the chair of Latin to become sub-dean of the Berkeley Divinity School at Middletown. The circular is as follows:

"At the last meeting of the Alumni Association the undersigned were appointed a committee to draw up resolutions expressing the sincere appreciation of the alumni body of the services of the Rev. Dr. Samuel Hart during the last three decades.

"So many of the alumni have expressed the desire that an opportunity might be given them to show in a more substantial and lasting form their appreciation of the great personal influence Dr. Hart has always exerted to develop Trinity men in the line of Christian gentlemen, that your committee has decided to raise $5,000, which shall be known as the Samuel Hart Library Fund, the income of said fund to be used in adding yearly to the library of Trinity College such books, manuscripts, etc., as may be selected by the Rev. Dr. Hart, or he failing to make selection, by the head of the Latin department, the fund to be held in trust by the trustees of Trinity College.

"We ask your hearty co-operation that the fund may be subscribed quickly and heartily. Let no man think his contribution so small it will not be acceptable.

"Remittances may be made to Professor F. S. Luther, 1 Columbia Street, Hartford, Conn., or to any of the committee.

The Church Standard of Feb. 10th, 1900, has the following :

"The second remarkable example of fine art in printery is a notable pamphlet containing a brief sketch of the history of the Prayer Book, written by Dr. Samuel Hart, issued by James Pott & Co., as a souvenir of the 350th anniversary of the first printing in the English language of our Book of Common Prayer. In truth this brief volume is an édition de luxe, a product of the Merrymount Press, Boston, prepared under the supervision of the expert who saw through the press the édition de luxe of the Standard Prayer Book. The pamphlet contains a fac-simile reproduction of the title page of the First Book of Edward VI., another of the title of the sumptuous Limited Edition of our Standard Prayer Book of 1892. Dr. Hart's brochure, "The Prayer Book in English," will be preserved and treasured not only for its intrinsic merit, but as a record of the attainment in America of high-water mark in printing."

The Boston Transcript is authority for the statement
 1869 that W. C. Brocklesby has purchased the Frankland farm in Ashland, Mass. It comprises 100 acres of land, a mansion house, cottage and barns. Mr. Brocklesby intends to make extensive improvements and will occupy the mansion as a residence. The farm was owned in colonial times by Sir Harry Frankland, who also resided there. He was collector of the port of Boston, and the place was the scene of the novel "Agnes Surriage."

At the meeting of the Hartford Association of Yale
 1870 Alumni at the Allyn House, Jan. 26th, with a word about the warm place of Trinity College in the hearts of Yale alumni, Judge Bennett introduced Professor Flavel S. Luther of Trinity, who spoke on "Sister Colleges" as follows :

“This speech is not to contain a word about athletic sports. I see my position as a guest, and feel the impropriety of introducing subjects whose consideration will give pain.

Let me thank you that I am permitted to be here and to say a word, not so much about sister colleges as concerning the sisterhood of colleges. We are that, are we not? The colleges are all striving for a common end. They are all doing their utmost to train their students to be worthy citizens of the great republic; to be true, loyal and honorable. We, of the colleges, mean that our students shall know many things and shall be the greatest of all things—Christian men and women.

There may be a certain fitness in the arrangement whereby a Trinity man offers you the greeting and pledges you the good will of all your sisters. The relations between your institution and mine have always been peculiarly intimate. Mere contiguity would have ensured something of the sort, but there is more in our common history. Our intimacy was once that of hostility, than which none is closer; and now, for many years, it has been that of sincere and, I am sure, mutual friendliness. There was a time, ages ago, when your Congregationalism was a bit too exigent for us and when you could by no means abide our bishops et al. How far away that seems and how paltry! We know better now. Trinity students to-day go from us to study theology in the Congregational seminary, and a son of Yale sits, honored and beloved, on the Episcopal throne. We have come to be friends and more. Some of us can remember that, twenty-five years ago a proposed closer union of the two institutions was carefully discussed. We decided to be a sister to you, but we have never formed other, more special ties.

In a way we are one of your little sisters. You are a big girl in the family. In numbers and wealth you far excel us. So you do in your expenses. We do the same work; Yale on one scale, Amherst, Bowdoin, Trinity, Wesleyan, Williams, and the rest of us on another scale. There should be no rivalry; there is none, save emulation in doing things well. We, of the smaller colleges, are very proud of our product. It is hand-made. Our graduates constitute a noble regiment in the army of progress. You will find them in the van in commerce and industry, leaders in church and state, strenuous in action, valiant in war, self-sacrificing in time of trouble. The small colleges, and Yale was one of us not long since, have scored their marks deep in the tablets of American history. Do not forget that the older Yale men of whom you are so justly proud, whose fame belongs to all of us, were the output of Yale the college, Yale whose students were few, Yale of the past. It was inevitable that more students should go to college than used to go. All the colleges are larger or dead. Trinity, still a small college, now has twice the number of students enrolled fifteen years ago; and we mean to double several times and faster. Doubtless there is a maximum number of students in excess of which it is not desirable that a single institution should accept candidates. Just what that number is I do not know, and you are likely to find it before I do. Neither can any of us say whether the newer and more comprehensive plan is better. I think it is, because I believe that, on the whole, new things are better than the old things. Still, we must bear in mind that the great gatherings of students under one administration are yet experimental. Graduates of such institutions are young, and it does not appear what they shall be on the whole. For my own part I thoroughly believe in them, believe in their earnestness, patriotism and honor. I am glad that there is such a lot of them; glad that, notwithstanding your later title and increased numbers, the traditions and potency of Yale the college still impress the old hall-mark on your handiwork.

The time draws near, I think, when our universities are to be devoted wholly to graduate work, will become a congeries of professional schools, permeated, unified, and vitalized by great armies of those who follow learning for its own sake. Such may be your future. When it comes you will know what had better be done and will do it. But meantime, while you take boys from the high school and train them, you will, I know, join hands with the rest of us in working for the personal development of personal character.

Under present conditions the individuality of the graduate bears the signature of his college, of Yale and her sister colleges. What the effect of the real American university is to be, how potent its influence in character building, is yet to be shown. I think I can see strictly college requirements reduced in amount, while a wide range of choice is given the candidates as to the studies which shall be offered. I think the strictly college course is to be made shorter. Both these things will make high school work easier and more fruitful. I think I can see the universities devoting their resources entirely to providing the broadest opportunities to college graduates.

Whether I am right or wrong, at present you are of us, the sisterhood of colleges. We congratulate you on your prosperity, your noble list of graduates, most of all on the unfailing loyalty and faith of all who go out from your care. Let us all be sure to keep step with the best that is in the world, not forgetful of the new, not seeking academic retirement from the strife of living. The colleges and universities must touch and bless every sort of labor to accomplish their real mission. The farmer, mechanic, merchant, law-giver, engineer, diplomat, clergyman, lawyer, physician, and all the rest must find their Mecca at the university; must find there each what he most needs. There are scores of learned professions to-day. Our fathers knew but three.

The university must recognize no degrees of dignity in honest endeavor. I think of this because of your new leader. I have never known him as professor. I have to-night met him as president. But for many years I have felt that I knew Mr. Hadley, him who understands about the things which men do, and must do, in setting forward the civilization of the world and making it a fit place for human habitation. I am sure that he can make the university a part of active life rather than an escape from it."

In Common Pleas Court No. 2, Philadelphia, in a case 1871      tried Feb. 9th, William Drayton, 71, for the plaintiff, objected to the competence as a witness of Prof. Persifor Frazer, of the University of Pennsylvania, the distinguished expert in handwriting. The Philadelphia Times says:

"While the crier of the court was repeating the customary oath to Professor Frazer, Attorney Drayton surprised everyone by interrupting the crier and objecting to the witness being sworn until he had been examined as to his competency. With the Court's consent Lawyer Drayton then proceeded to examine Dr. Frazer as follows :

"Do you believe in a God who punishes false swearing?"

"I neither believe nor disbelieve ; I know nothing whatsoever on that subject."

"Do you believe that a God will punish you in a future state if you take a false oath?"

"I have no belief or disbelief on such a subject."

"Do you believe in a God who will punish you here or hereafter for false swearing?"

"I have no belief or disbelief for or against the existence of a God."

Professor Frazer, who had told the crier he would affirm, was then asked to explain his reason for preferring not to take an oath, and he replied :

"I regard the ceremony of affirmation which I take before the Court and public as an intelligible statement of what I attempt to perform. I understand the oath to amount to the same thing, and under any circumstance I believe that my testimony would not differ whether I took an oath or affirmation, but my preference for the affirmation is that there is no word or combination of words in it which is not perfectly intelligible to all persons whether they believe or don't believe in any particular form of religion."

Attorney Drayton objected to the witness on the ground of incompetency. Attorney Simpson said he was taken entirely by surprise by this objection and he had nothing to say. Judge Wiltbank after considering the matter asked for authorities on the subject, and Attorney Drayton promptly referred him to a number of them. The Judge said he would reserve the question for the Court in banc to decide and would permit the testimony of Professor Frazer to be taken with the understanding that a new trial would be awarded if the full court sustained Mr. Drayton's objection."

1875 Judge Joseph Buffington has had printed in a handsome illustrated pamphlet the speech made by him at a Princeton alumni meeting in Pittsburgh a year ago, in which he rendered so eloquent a tribute to his Alma Mater. He has inserted in the pamphlet, on a separate sheet adorned by a picture of the college, an earnest appeal to the alumni to visit the college at the next commencement, and thus to celebrate the great advance marked by the completion of the new Hall of Natural History. Judge Buffington's eloquence was again heard at the annual banquet of the Yale alumni at Scranton, March 14th. The Scranton Tribune says :

“Judge Buffington, a Trinity man, was called upon for a few remarks and, although totally unexpected the call, entertained the company with timely witticisms and stories, and aroused unbounded enthusiasm in a brief speech on the work of the smaller colleges. President McKinley, Secretary Root and Postmaster-General Smith were mentioned as some of the products of the smaller colleges. The biographies of the country, he said, tell what the smaller colleges have done. He concluded by paying a handsome tribute to his own Alma Mater.”

1883 Professor Richard E. Burton has recently published another volume of poems, entitled Lyrics of Brotherhood, which mark a steady advance in poetic power. His Song of the Unsuccessful in the Outlook for March 3rd has much of the spirit and vigor of Villon's Ballade des pendus.

1884 Edward S. Van Zile's novel, “With Sword and Crucifix,” which first appeared as a serial in Harper's Weekly, has had a gratifying success since its publication as a book. The London Spectator says of it: “The dismay of the reader on finding that the first words of ‘With Sword and Crucifix’ concern Louis le Grand is quickly turned to relief on speedily learning that the loyal subjects of Le Grand Monarque are discussing his character on the banks of the Mississippi. The sequel proves to be a stirring backwoods story of the seventeenth century, in which Frenchmen, Spaniards and Indians of many different tribes are all entrusted with interesting roles. Louis de Sancerre, the hero, is an attractive French gallant, endowed with true French vivacity, bravery and good humor. Altogether the story, while not pretending any special subtlety, is breezily interesting, and at moments really exciting."

1887 Frederick Everest Haight, Ph. D., Sec., 1138 Bergen St., Brooklyn, N. Y.

Frederick E. Haight has recently made a short visit to Cuba in the interest of his health. Before and since his journey he has been busily engaged in securing subscriptions for The Hart Fund. At this date he has succeeded in raising about $1,000.

1890 Married at Buffalo, Jan. 22nd, the Rev. John Stockton Littell to Gertrude, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Walter Townsend Wilson.

1891 Mr. and Mrs. Samuel Belton Horne have issued invitations to the marriage of their daughter, Belle Bartlett, to Edwin Franklin Lawton on Thursday, April 19, at St. James Church, Winsted.—Dr. Victor C. Pedersen has an article in the Medical Record, N. Y., for March 10th, 1900, on "A Means of Accounting for Laparotomy Gauze Pads."

1893 Robert Peck Bates, Sec., 596 Division St., Chicago, Ill.
Married at Buffalo, Jan. 13th, Burton Parker to Mildred Evelyn, daughter of Mrs. Edward E. Breslyn.

1894 Philip DeWitt Phair, Sec., Library of Congress, Washington, D. C.

The Rev. Robert L. Paddock, Vicar of the Pro-Cathedral in New York, has entitled his annual report, "A few words about the Pro-Cathedral—in the most crowded district in the world. A statement for busy men and women." The little pamphlet of ten pages is one of extraordinary interest.

The Pro-Cathedral and Church Settlement is at 130 Stanton St., on the lower East Side, about a third of a mile east of the Bowery and just below First St. In the one block opposite the Church Settlement there are almost three thousand souls. Within a radius of 100 yards from Mr. Paddock's study there are ten thousand people. In this district a small band of clergy, deaconesses and lay workers are living in a neighborly way among the people in a tenement-house near the church. They support a crèche, a kindergarten, a boy's gymnasium, a boy's cooking-school, a boy's club, a school for teaching girls sewing, cooking, nursing and general housework, a mens' club of a hundred members, societies for women, young and old, a free library, lecture courses, and a summer home at Tompkins Cove on the Hudson. The leader and inspirer of all this work is our young Trinity graduate, Robert L. Paddock. Bishop Potter wrote from the Gælic, as he was leaving San Francisco on the 24th of October, an Introductory Note for the report, in which he says: "But most of all, they (the band of workers) would wish me, I know, to say how much, under God, we owe to him whose singleness of purpose and unsparing devotion to all tasks and lives in his various and complex ministry, mixed always, as his work has been, with such large patience, wisdom, gentleness and courage, have inspired all who have worked with him. Our Vicar has taught us all how to rule by serving; and his fellow-workers and fellow-givers rejoice that God has given him back to us, after his recent critical illness, to be our leader in every service and a blessing to the flock, so wide and various, to whom he ministers."

Philip James McCook, Sec., 32 E. 45th St., New York.

1895      The philanthropic work of David Willard, 95, has the following notice from Jacob A. Riis in the Atlantic Monthly for Nov., 1899:

"For nearly two years the Public Education Association has kept school in the Tombs for the boys locked up there awaiting trial. . . Their teacher, Mr. David Willard, who was a resident of the University Settlement in its old Delancey Street home . . . has his own sound view of how to head off the hangman. Daily and nightly he gathers about him in the house on Chrystie Street, where he makes his home, three hundred boys and girls, whom he meets as their friend on equal terms."

Henry Woodward Allen, Sec., 1599 Massachusetts Ave., Cambridge, Mass.

E. D. N. Schulte, who received the degrees of M. A. and E. E. at the same time from Columbia in 1899, was appointed immediately afterwards to a position in the Electrical Department of the Pennsylvania R. R. at Altoona, Pa. He has just recovered from a severe attack of typhoid fever.—Hermann von W. Schulte, Prosector in the College of Physicians and Surgeons, has been obliged to interrupt his studies for a year in consequence of overwork, but has now resumed them. He is devoting himself especially to anatomy and embryology with Prof. George S. Huntington, M. D., Trinity 81, Professor of Anatomy in the College of Physicians and Surgeons, Columbia University.—Samuel Ferguson, of the General Electric Co., Schenectady, received at the same time the two degrees of M. A. and E. E. from Columbia in 1899.—John H. Page, 2nd Lieut. 3rd Infantry, writes from Calumpit, Philippine Islands, to President Smith: "I want to thank you for your interest in helping me to gain my commission. I am in my father's regiment, and it makes my life more pleasant than if we were separated in these times of war. I have seen lots of bloodshed and lost a great many friends. One of them was Lieut. Keyes, Roosevelt's adjutant in the Cuban war. Lieut. Keyes had command of some native scouts and I had the advance guard of our troops in an attack upon a Philippino stronghold. We were under fire three hours. Keyes fell a few feet from me just as we carried the enemy's works. I hope to live and see our flag well planted here. Then I want to go back to "God's Country" and visit Trinity College. Chaplain Freeman, Mr. Moore and I make up the Trinity list so far as I know. Mr. Moore has seen some hard fighting, and I hope that he may before long gain his straps. As I sit here in my tent in my shirt sleeves, it is, oh! so hot! I think with regret of your keen cold and deep snow. I hope that we may all soon return to America, where the air is cool and bracing."

1898 Julian Stuart Carter was married on Tuesday, February 27th, to Aurora Grelaud, daughter of Mr. and Mrs.

Francis Hazlehurst.—H. R. Remsen, of the Episcopal Theological School in Cambridge, has been elected President of the Harvard Psi Upsilon Club. He has contributed a number of poems to East and West.

1899 Reginald Norton Willcox, Sec., General Theological Seminary, Chelsea Square, New York.

•• Necrology. ••

THE RT. REV. HENRY A. NEELY, D. D., second bishop of the diocese of Maine, and since 1867 a Visitor of Trinity College, died in Portland, Oct. 31st, 1899, after a long illness.

Bishop Neely was born in Fayetteville, N. Y., May 14, 1830. He was one of the oldest bishops of the Church in America. He served six years, the longest time allowed, as the chairman of the House of Bishops. He was graduated at Geneva (now Hobart) College in 1849 and was ordained a priest in Trinity Church at Utica, N. Y., in 1854. He was consecrated bishop of Maine in Trinity Chapel, New York, January 25, 1867.

GEORGE BEACH, from 1870 until his death a Trustee of Trinity College, one of the oldest residents and business men of Hartford, died at his home, No. 131 Farmington Ave., on the 16th of July, 1899.

Mr. Beach was born in Hartford, January 26, 1812, on Church St. He was the eldest son of George Beach and Harriet Bradley, and was a lineal descendant of Governor Bradford and George Steele, the brother of John Steele. He was also a descendant of William Whiting, the second treasurer of the State of Connecticut. Mr. Beach was educated in the public schools and in early life was engaged in the banking business in New York State. Years afterwards he became the president of the First National Bank of Hartford, his father having been president of the Phoenix Bank for many years. Over thirty years ago he became a member of the firm of Beach & Co., which was originally Hungerford, Phelps & Beach, the junior member of the firm being Mr. Beach's father. The firm of Beach & Co. consisted of George Beach, J. Watson Beach and Charles M. Beach. The three brothers comprised the firm until the death of J. Watson Beach in 1887. It was a pioneer in the importing of dye stuffs into this country and has been the agent for many years of some of the largest houses in England and on the continent of Europe in that line. Mr. Beach kept up his interest in the firm until the last days of his life. So strong was his vitality that until a year before his death he always walked down town in the morning, stopping on the way to do the family marketing.

Mr. Beach was greatly interested in the park system of Hartford in its early days, and was chairman of the board of trustees that laid out Bushnell Park. Under his supervision the direct system of walks was established upon the East park, the land was graded to a much higher level than it had originally, and the larger number of the fine trees in that section of the park were set out. Mr. Beach at the same time beautified his own grounds with specimens of many rare and fine trees.

Mr. Beach was a member of Christ Church, which he always attended, and a vestryman. He was for many years a member of the board of trustees of Trinity College and was much interested in its affairs. He was a strong Democrat but averse to holding public office. Several years ago he was nominated as candidate for Congress by the Democratic party, leading a forlorn hope.

Mr. Beach's tall, commanding figure and snowy white hair made him a conspicuous figure on the street. He was regarded with the highest respect in private and business life. He was careful and systematic in business and abstemious in private life, to which facts he attributed his reaching such a good old age. He was not a member of any club or society, preferring the society of his wife, his books and his friends in the family circle.

Mr. Beach leaves no children, but his wife, who was Miss Fannie Curtis of New Haven, survives him. An adopted daughter is the wife of George H. Seyms of Hartford, of the class of 1872. Mr. Beach was married three times. His first wife was Miss Sarah Nichols, a daughter of Cyprian Nichols of this city, who died in January, 1873. He was married in 1876 to Miss Emily Wood of Washington, D. C., the daughter of an English gentleman. She died in 1884. He married Miss Curtis in March, 1888.

The REV. JARED B. FLAGG, SR., D. D., who received an honorary M. A. from Trinity College in 1864, died in New York, Sept. 24th, aged 79. He was the third artist-son of Mayor Flagg of New Haven, and was born in that city in 1820. Jared B. Flagg spent a part of his boyhood in Boston, where he enjoyed the advantage of association with his uncle, Washington Allston. At the age of 17 he began independent portrait painting and two years later came to Hartford, where he lived ten years. He painted several of the portraits of the governors, now hanging in the Capitol.

In this city Mr. Flagg married Miss Sarah Montague, who died two years and six months later. The loss of his wife determined him to enter the ministry. At the age of 28 he married again and removed to Brooklyn, where in 1849 his son Charles Noel Flagg was born. In 1852 Mr. Flagg took Holy Orders, and in 1854 had a parish in Birmingham. In nine months he accepted an invitation to succeed Dr. Vinton in Grace Church, Brooklyn Heights, where he remained throughout the longest rectorship of the parish.

Resuming his first profession, from 1870 to 1873 he painted in New Haven, and afterwards in New York. Besides his degree from Trinity he received the degree of D. D. from Columbia College and that of M. A. from Yale.

Dr. Flagg had a high reputation in portraiture. He painted the portrait of Chief Justice Church of New York, which is in the New York State Capitol, a portrait of William M. Evarts, and a number of portraits of Commodore Vanderbilt. His noted pictures include "Holy Thoughts," "Paul Before Felix," and "Angelo and Isabella."

His finest work in the ideal, however, was achieved when he was over 70 years old, in his "Hester Prynne in Prison."

MRS. F. J. KINGSBURY, wife of the Hon. F. J. Kingsbury of Waterbury, Conn., was a member of the Scovill family of that city, among the earliest and greatest benefactors of Trinity College. She died in New York City Dec. 7th, 1899. She was the eldest child of William Henry Scovill, who with J. M. L. Scovill founded in 1854 the Scovill Professorship of Chemistry and Natural Science.

Mrs. Kingsbury was the great-granddaughter of the Rev. James Scovill, the first resident rector in Waterbury.

MR. JAMES BRUCE POWEL, president of the Mercantile Bank, long one of the depositories of the funds of Trinity College, died at his home in Hartford, Friday, Nov. 17th, 1899.

He was a native of Ireland and was 73 years of age. He came to this city in 1848. He was one of the originators of the Bank of Hartford County, now the American National. He was also one of the originators of the Mercantile Bank. He became the cashier and retained the position under five presidents. Mr. Powel succeeded President Beach in 1886. The Mercantile was organized March 20, 1854. It went into voluntary liquidation August 2, 1897. The last two years of his life were spent by President Powel in settling the interests of the bank with the stockholders. The entire amount of stock will be paid from the assets.

Mr. Powel had been a resident of Washington St. since 1855. He was twice married. His first wife was Miss Lucinda Ward of Cambridge, Mass., by whom he had three children, one of them the wife of the Rev. James B. Goodrich, Trinity 66, of Littleton, N. H. She died March 16th at her home in Littleton.

The REV. ROBERT BRINCKERHOFF FAIRBAIRN, D. D.,
1840 LL. D., died suddenly at his home in Brooklyn, N. Y., on Friday, January 27, 1899. He was born in New York in 1818, began his academic studies in Bristol College, Pa., and graduated at Trinity College in 1840 with a high reputation for scholarship and the honors of the valedictory. Among his classmates was the late Judge Dwight W. Pardee of Hartford, while in the next class was his life-long friend, ex-President Thomas R. Pynchon. He studied theology at the General Theological Seminary, and on his ordination became rector of Christ church, Troy, N. Y. In 1853 he became principal of the Catskill Academy, and in 1862, soon after the establishment of St. Stephen's College, Annandale, N. Y., he was chosen its professor of mathematics and natural philosophy. In the following year he was chosen to be warden (or president) of the college and professor of moral philosophy, and he continued in the discharge of these offices for thirty-five years, resigning at the commencement in 1898 and retiring with the title of emeritus.

Dr. Fairbairn received the doctorate in divinity from Trinity College and also from Columbia and St. Stephen's Colleges, and his doctorate in laws from Delaware College. He published a volume on the Invocation in the Communion Office, calling attention to the meaning of this feature of the Prayer of Consecration in the American Prayer Book; the Paddock Lectures of 1895, on the influence of philosophy and logic on the revealed facts of Christian redemption, and one or two volumes of college sermons.

1841      The REV. DR. THOMAS LEVERING FRANKLIN, a graduate of Trinity college in the class of 1841, and a classmate of ex-President Pynchon, died October 29th, 1899, at his home in Philadelphia, in the 80th year of his age. He was active in parochial and city mission work, and was for six years editor of The Episcopal Register. His degree in divinity was conferred by Hobart College in 1871.

1842      GEORGE ROGERS HALL, M. D., died at Milton, Mass., December 24, 1899. Dr. Hall received his degree in medicine from Harvard University in 1846. His residence was for many years in Bristol, R. I., but he spent a large part of his time in Florida.

Twenty-five men were graduated at Trinity College in 1842, many of whom attained distinction in their several vocations. Of the whole number but three survive, the Rev. Dr. Thomas Gallaudet of New York City, the Rev. Charles E. Phelps of New Brunswick, N. J., and the Rev. Abraham J. Warner of Angelica, N. Y.

The REV. DR. ALFRED LEE BREWER died suddenly in 1853 San Mateo, Cal., Thursday, Feb. 16th, 1899. He was born in Norwich in 1831. His first parish was in Yan-tic, whence he removed to Detroit, where for many years he was pastor of the Mariners' Church. In 1866 he went to San Mateo, Cal., and founded St. Matthew's Hall, a military school of which he was rector.
He received the degree of doctor of divinity from Trinity College in 1891.

The San José Daily Mercury of Sept. 3, 1899, gives 1857 the following notices of ASHBEL SMITH KITTREDGE, Judge of the Superior Court of California, who died at Pacific Grove, California, Aug. 25th, 1899, aged 62.

"Ashbel S. Kittredge was born in New Hampshire in 1837. When he was but little more than an infant his parents emigrated to Tennessee, and Memphis in that State became his adopted home. He was sent to Connecticut to complete his education, and graduated from Trinity College, Hartford, in 1857. After his graduation he returned to Memphis, and in 1860 began the practice of law.

When the Civil War broke out Mr. Kittredge enlisted in the Fourth Tennessee regiment of the Confederate army. He served first with General Leonidas Polk, under whose command he fought at the battle of Belmont. He next served under General Albert Sydney Johnston.
At the battle of Shiloh he received a wound that retired him from service about four months. After his recovery he was attached to the command of General John C. Pemberton. He was at Vicksburg during the siege, and when that place was captured by General Grant he was taken prisoner. When released he went to Texas with the Second regiment of that state. He was soon in active service again, this time under General John B. Magruder. His immediate commander was Colonel David S. Terry, afterward a Justice of the Supreme Court of California. While stationed at Galveston he was captain on the staff of the officer in command of the post. It was at this place that he surrendered at the close of the war.

In 1865 he returned to Memphis and resumed the practice of his profession. Seven years later he came to California, taking up his home at Watsonville, Santa Cruz county. He practiced law in that city fifteen years.

He came to San José in 1887 and opened a law office. In 1891 he formed a partnership with Louis P. Krafft, the firm being known as Kittredge & Krafft. The firm built up a large and profitable business, and the partnership continued until 1896, when it was broken by the death of Mr. Krafft. In 1890 Mr. Kittredge, who had always been an uncompromising Democrat, was one of the candidates of his party for Superior Judge, but was defeated. In November, 1896, he was elected a member of the Board of Freeholders, which body framed the new city charter which now governs the city.

Although always a Democrat in politics, Judge Kittredge was never a bitter partisan. The Legislature of 1897 passed a bill creating the third Superior Court department in Santa Clara county, and Governor Budd appointed A. S. Kittredge to the position. The wisdom and popularity of the choice was confirmed in a most convincing and gratifying manner by the people at the election held in November last. By a handsome majority Judge Kittredge was chosen to remain in the position to which he had been appointed. His nomination by the Democrats was confirmed by the Good Government League, and the People's Party also endorsed him.

Judge Kittredge was a consistent Christian gentleman throughout his whole career. For many years he has been a communicant in the Episcopal Church and an active member and vestryman of Trinity church in San José. He took much interest in the organization and was a great aid in the church's material affairs."

"The announcement came as a great shock to all classes in this community yesterday that Superior Judge A. S. Kittredge was no more. Seldom has a man in any community so thoroughly won the confidence and esteem of all as has Judge Kittredge both in private and public life in San José. The shock of the announcement of his death was the greater because there had been no preparation for it through any apprehension that his illness was serious. Although he had been indisposed for two weeks his death seemed sudden to his hosts of warm friends and acquaintances in this city and county.

The high standing and ability of the lamented deceased as a lawyer and judge was recognized by all his associates in the profession. His clear and able opinions always won for him the highest admiration and respect. With a dignity and carriage that was commensurate with his position and standing in the community, he combined a rare kindness and affability that won the esteem of all with whom he came in contact in any capacity. Young attorneys found in him a friend and kindly aid in the difficulties that often beset them in court, and old practitioners entertained the greatest confidence in his ability, his sterling integrity being entirely beyond question at all times."

The Living Church has the following notice of JOHN PECK CASE SHAW :

"A TRUE MAN.

These words were said over the casket of the late John P. C. Shaw, who departed this life in Wickford, R. I., Dec. 15th, 1899.

He was born in Wickford, Dec. 30th, 1850; the only son of Dr. William A. Shaw and Ann P. Case, and in the paternal line descended from Gov. William Brenton, Roger Williams, and Gov. Cranston. His education was at Cheshire Academy and at Trinity College. After his graduation he was head master at De Veaux for six years.

He was a candidate for Holy Orders in the Church, but failing health prevented the fulfillment of his purpose to preach the Gospel.

A beautiful tribute to his memory was the presence, at his funeral, of many friends from afar, who knew and loved him well. Among these were five clergymen, two of whom assisted in the burial service, and one of whom, the Rev. Dr. Fiske, was his colleague at Trinity.

Mr. Shaw's fine, intellectual culture and delicate, gentlemanly manner made him a delightful acquisition to the social circle. To his refinement and politeness was added a genuineness that betrayed more of heart than of mere good breeding and conventionality, so that he was sought and cherished, not for the simple diversion of the hour, but rather as an all-time friend who could never be forgotten or dropped. In the sanctity of his home his rare tenderness and affection were felt as nowhere else in all the world—so sweet, so gentle, so invariable. He will be sadly missed by all who have had the privilege and happiness of any connection with him. But, thank God! he has only “gone before,” and the time is coming when we shall see his face again, and together rejoice in a most blessed reunion in the land of everlasting light and love.

F. B. G.”

1894 Dr. WILLIAM WELSH VIBBERT died at his home in New York City on Monday, March 26th, 1900, from an attack of heart disease, aged 27 years. He was the son of the Rev. Dr. William H. Vibbert, vicar of Trinity Chapel. His mother, who died when he was young, was a daughter of the late William Welsh of Philadelphia. He won many friends while he was a student here and took a high stand in his class. After graduation he studied at the College of Physicians and Surgeons and received his degree in medicine in 1897 with a credit which led to an honorable position in hospital work. The funeral was attended on Wednesday, March 28th, at 10:30 o'clock at Trinity Chapel, New York.

1896 FREDERICK MACDONALD GODDARD, youngest son of the Rev. E. N. Goddard of Windsor, died from typhoid fever, in Pittsburg, Pa., Jan. 10th, 1899, in the 25th year of his age. He was born in Portlandville, N. Y., Feb. 6, 1875. He prepared for college at Rock Point Episcopal Institute in Burlington, and graduated from Trinity College in 1896, where he was awarded the Russell fellowship, one of the highest honors conferred by the college. During the following year he pursued a post-graduate course at Trinity, paying much attention to electrical study and investigation. He then went to Göttingen to continue his special study in the same direction, returning to this country last May, being called to Pittsburg by the Westinghouse Electric Company to continue in their employ experimental work, begun by him in Europe, upon a new electric lamp. His death occurred in Mercy hospital after an illness of a little more than two weeks. Hopes were entertained and encouraged of his recovery until the afternoon of the 9th, when a sudden change for the worse occurred. His body was taken to Windsor, and funeral services were held in St. Paul's church on Friday, the 12th.

Though quiet and studious by nature, Mr. Goddard yet possessed social traits and manly characteristics that made him warm friends wherever he went. His training and ability, and the successes already attained by him warranted for him the prediction of a brilliant career.

GEORGE SHELDON McCOOK, son of Professor John J.

1897 McCook, died in Paris, France, early on Monday, Jan.

8th, 1899, of pneumonia. His father received a telegram on the 5th, announcing his illness, and another soon after giving some details as to his serious condition. Professor McCook and his son, Dr. J. B. McCook, left for Paris immediately, sailing for Liverpool on the 6th.

George Sheldon McCook was born in Niantic, at the summer home of his parents, May 20, 1875. He passed from the Charter Oak and South schools to the Hartford Public High School, where he was a member of the class of 1893. From the high school he entered Trinity College and graduated with honors in the class of 1897. He was instructor at Holderness school in New Hampshire for a year. In 1898 he went with the First Regiment, Connecticut Volunteers, in the war with Spain, serving with Company F, and was a great favorite with the men of the command. Returning from the war he entered upon the study of architecture under the direction of Charles Noel Flagg and established an office in this city. He concluded, however, further to fit himself for his profession, and last autumn went to Paris, where he was studying for entrance to the École des Beaux Arts, when he was taken ill.

"In college he left the record of a good student and a manly character. He was connected with many of the college organizations, was a dashing football player and a prominent member of the Glee Club. Many will remember the announcement at the Trinity Class Day that George Sheldon McCook had been voted to be the best loved member of his class. 'He has shown us,' said the speaker, 'how to enjoy one's self without neglect to duty; how to be popular without sacrificing principle.' The life that taught such things to young men has been fruitful. It spanned only twenty-four years; but it cannot be forgotten nor become of no avail. He possessed a singularly sweet and winning personality."

The foregoing tribute is from Professor Luther. Professor Johnson wrote of Mr. McCook:

"He was a young man of fine character and abilities. He leaves many friends and a precious memory. He was a consistent and earnest Christian, and a thoroughly upright, honorable young man."

The funeral was held from St. John's church in East Hartford on the afternoon of Jan. 31st. It was preceded, at 9 o'clock in the morning, by the celebration of the Holy Communion, Bishop Chauncey B. Brewster and Professor Luther conducting the services. The purple pall was marked with a white cross. Flowers were numerous and of remarkable beauty. The body remained in the edifice during the day, details from the membership of St. Agnes Guild remaining with it.

The Right Rev. Chauncey B. Brewster, President Smith, and Professors Luther and Ferguson conducted the funeral services. The hymns sung were "There is a Blessed Home" and "Abide with Me." The attendance was very large, many being present from distant places as well as from this city and from East Hartford.

The body rested in a plain oak coffin with a plate bearing the French inscription, which was placed there before the arrival of Professor and Dr. McCook in Paris, and to this was added a plain Latin cross bearing the name, dates of birth and of death and the words, "Love, Rest and Home," with the sacred monogram.

Among the many flowers were those from 'Tent 8,' Mr. McCook's mess during the war; Company F, First Connecticut Volunteer Infantry, in which he enlisted; the present Hartford

City Guard, and the Verein of Hartford. There were also a standing cross from the parish, and a wreath sent from Paris by Mr. McCook's fellow students in the Atelier. This was tied with a broad purple ribbon and bore the inscription: "Les élèves de l' Atelier Godefroy et Freynet."

C. Shiras Morris, Archibald M. Langford, John T. Robinson, Herbert A. Ross, George M. Colvocoresses, Hans C. Owen, Edward C. Green and Robert S. Starr were the bearers. Of these, Messrs. Langford and Starr were classmates of Mr. McCook in the class of 97 in Trinity College. Messrs. Colvocoresses, Ross, Owen and Green were tentmates of Mr. McCook in Company F, First Connecticut Volunteer Infantry. Mr. Morris was a graduate of Trinity in the class of 96. Both he and Mr. Owen were members of the Psi Upsilon fraternity, to which Mr. McCook belonged.

The interment was in the Old North Cemetery.

Notes of Progress.

The Trinity Tablet is the chronicle of the varied and joyous life of the college, with its happy union of intellectual work greater in quantity and better in quality in each succeeding year, athletic enterprise, and social festivities. Alumni and faculty alike join in the interest of the undergraduate in the paper that has been the only publication save the Catalogue and the Ivy to bear the name of the college. This Bulletin, should it be deemed wise to continue it, will not intrude upon the field of the Tablet, as the college newspaper and monthly magazine. In its chronicle of events the Bulletin will note in general only those which seem to furnish evidence to the graduates that the college is advancing towards the fulfillment of their ideals.

First among these is the approaching completion of the stately and spacious Hall of Natural History. The open winter has been singularly favorable for the work. The whole building will surely be completed before Commencement. Some graduates familiar with the plans for the great quad-

The Hall of Natural History. rangles will feel a pang in the thought that the structure is not part of the south side of the Great Quadrangle and entirely conformed to the original scheme. The great idea of Burgess can rest and gather strength from waiting. Meantime, as a building adapted to the practical needs of a progressive college in the first half of the present century, the Hall of Natural History must excite the congratulation and stir the enthusiasm of every graduate. The exterior is dignified, the interior a revelation of opportunity. The architect has combined most happily the problem of uniting a museum with many laboratories for the practical study of biology, botany, geology and mineralogy. The floors devoted to museum purposes, lighted by windows occupying a large part of the southern wall, promise delight as well as instruction. The laboratories will furnish every opportunity for the most advanced practical work to at least three professors, one of biology, one of botany, and one of geology and mineralogy. The hope that the college may at some time have able professors in each of these three departments seems no more chimerical than would have been a few years ago the expectation of having such buildings as the Jarvis Laboratory and the Hall of Natural History.

The present collegiate year has been marked by a notable advance in the administration of the Library. A special professional librarian has devoted his whole time to the promotion of the efficiency of the library as an adjunct to the work of the college.

Progress in the Library.

The quinquennial catalogue records the names of thirteen librarians, some of whom have rendered the college great services. Dr. Hoadly was librarian from 1854 to 1855, and from that time to this has shown an interest in the library and a benevolence towards it that have given it many of its greatest literary treasures. Professor Pynchon was librarian from 1857 to 1882 and was instrumental in adding many valuable works. The Rev. Dr. Barbour, as librarian from 1873 to 1889, rendered the library a service never to be forgotten in having been the first to make the modern card catalogues of authors and of subjects and to classify the books in accordance with the present system. During the eleven years since Dr. Barbour's withdrawal Dr. Hart rendered great aid in his general superintendence and guidance, but much of the work was done by untrained though well-wishing student amateurs, varying widely in intelligence and accuracy. Grotesque errors of classification crept in. Books were practically lost by misplacement. The library was opened so short a time each day that the advantage of its possession was greatly diminished. No one but Dr. Hoadly, Dr. Hart, or Dr. Barbour had any appreciation of the great bibliographical treasures scattered about the shelves. The greatest need of all, that of a man able and willing to guide the students in the use of books was not met. During the past collegiate year the whole contents of the library have been examined anew. The college knows once more what it has and where it is. The students have been helped to use books and have used them more than ever before. The library hours have been from 10-12 and from 2-5 on every secular day, thus affording a better opportunity for consultation.

The Hon. Charles J. Hoadly, LL. D., the State Librarian, has as usual been the most generous benefactor of the library. His gifts during the present collegiate year have been the following: 1. Junianus Maius. Gifts to the Library from Dr. Hoadly. In Librum de priscorum proprietate verborum Prologus. Tarvisiae (Treviso), 1477. Folio.

Beautifully illuminated.

2. Syllius (sic) Italicus. Punicorum Libri XVII. Venetiis. 1492. Folio.
3. De gedenkwaardige Reisen van den beroemden Capiteyn Johan Smith na Virginien. Leyden, 1707.
4. Chymica Vannus. Amstelodami, 1666.
5. Collection of State Papers Relating to Affairs in the Reigns of Henry VIII and Elizabeth, 1542-1596, left by William Cecil, Lord Burghley, 2 vols. London, 1740-59.
6. State Tracts Published on Occasion of the Late Revolution in 1688 and During the Reign of King William III, 3 vols., London, 1705-1707.
7. Platonis Codex Oxoniensis Clarkianus 39, Vol. II., Leyden, 1899.
8. Sir Ralph Winwood. Memorials of Affairs of State in the Reigns of Queen Elizabeth and James I., 3 vols., London, 1725.

One and two are noteworthy additions to the collection of incunabula, or works printed before 1500, of which the library possesses between twenty-five and thirty. In the Harvard library there are said to be one hundred and fifty-seven. In the libraries of the world there are about twenty thousand. All are eagerly sought by bibliophiles.

No. 3 is a Dutch translation of Captain John Smith's Voyage to Virginia in 1606, and contains a reproduction of the curious map and cuts of the original.

No. 4 is an interesting old work on alchemy.

Nos. 5 and 6 are beautiful copies and No. 6 is especially valuable, as the three volumes are not often found together, most sets lacking either the second or the third.

No. 7 is the continuation of a previous gift of Vol. I. of the facsimile of the best manuscript of Plato.

General William B. Franklin has given to the library his personal set in 123 vols. of "The Official Records of the Union and Confederate Armies during the War of the Rebellion,"

Gifts of and many other important government publications,
Gen. Franklin. including a full set of the Reports of the Commissioners to the Paris Exposition of 1889, at which General Franklin was the United States commissioner-general. Included also in this gift were the reports of several of the French commissioners, among them the very important and valuable one of A. Alphand, entitled "Monographie des palais, jardins, constructions diverses et installations g n rales."

Gift of Sidney Mr. Sidney T. Miller of the class of 1885 has T. Miller, Esq., also given a complete set in 123 vols. of "The of Detroit. Official Records of the Union and Confederate Armies in the War of the Rebellion."

Mary Pickering Nichols of Boston has given her translation of Gudrun, and Emily Sedgwick Welch of Norfolk

Other Gifts. the privately-printed Memoir of Major-General John Sedgwick, U. S. A.

The library has also received from unknown donors the following gifts:

Memorials of Edgar B. Lewis, late of the Junior Class, Trinity College, and of the 19th Regiment, C. V., Hartford, 1863.

Scribner's Monthly Magazine, March, 1876. (This number contains an illustrated article on Trinity College by W. C. Brocklesby, 69.)

Trinity Ivy, 1873-74, 1875-6.

General Catalogue of Trinity College, 1862.

The Trinity Tablet, vol. 3, 1870; vol. 4, 1871.

As it is desirable that there should be gathered together in the library everything relating to the college and its alumni these gifts are particularly welcome, and this opportunity is taken of thanking the anonymous givers with the regret that their modesty prevents the inscription of their names on the labels in the books.

The completion of the Hall of Natural History and the removal of the collections in the Museum to the new building will make available for the purposes of the now crowded library a large additional space. Plans have been prepared according to which shelving will be furnished on the second floor for 17,000 volumes, while alcoves on the ground floor will contain the most necessary books of reference in each of the great departments of study. The space between the two lines of alcoves will afford a reading-room seventy feet long and about fifteen wide. In addition there will be a smaller reading-room adjacent to the larger. The larger reading-room proposed in these plans would be one of the most beautiful in the country.

It is a token of progress for Trinity to send her professor of astronomy with a pupil trained by him to join in the observation of the total eclipse of the sun, which will take place May 28th. Professor Luther will take with him Simon Lewis Tomlinson of Hartford, the valedictorian of the present senior class. Professor Luther will be stationed at Winston, N. C., a point about thirty miles from the coast and almost centrally located in the path of totality.

He will take photographs of the sun's corona and will make what observations are possible. Professor Luther and his assistant will be prepared to do all their photographing and make all their observations during the brief period with the greatest dexterity possible. The exposures will be very short. In latitude 40° the duration of totality can barely equal six and one-quarter minutes.

December 6, 1882, the German Imperial Commission made an observation of the transit of the planet Venus on the Trinity grounds, just south of the present college observatory. The event is commemorated by a sandstone monument suitably inscribed.

Reference to the College Catalogue will show that the maintenance of the range of elective studies offered by Trinity College involves a great amount of teaching. While the college library in proportion to the number of its volumes is very rich

and Literary

in isolated works of value, no endeavor has hitherto been made to furnish the faculty, by the purchase of the necessary works in individual departments, with the apparatus of research. Among the conditions of scientific and literary production are limitation in the hours of teaching, rigid specialization of departments, apparatus for experiment, and ready access to all authoritative literature bearing upon the subject under investigation, especially the great scientific and philological journals of Europe. At their spring meeting the Trustees passed a resolution inviting the preparation of lists of imperative needs of the Library, a suggestion of progress.

Meantime Trinity College has made a few contributions to scientific advance and has two more under way. Professor Robb has read three distinctly scientific papers containing original results during the past year. At the last annual meeting of the National Electric Lighting Association in New York City in June, 1899, he read a paper on Rotary Transformers and Storage Batteries as related to the Long Distance Transmission of Power. At the September meeting of the American Institute of Electrical Engineers he read a paper on Series Arc Lighting from Constant Current Transformers. At the meeting of the Connecticut Society of Civil Engineers in Hartford in December he read a paper on Recent Water Power Development on the Farmington River. He continues to act as the Consulting Engineer of the Hartford Electric Light Co., and has been called in consultation by a number of other important corporations. The Hartford Electric Light Co. was the first in America to transmit power a considerable distance.

All the electricity for lighting Hartford and most of that used in the factories is developed on the Farmington River at a distance of eleven miles.

The late Professor Frederick DeForest Allen, the editor of the Hadley-Allen Greek Grammar, planned and began a shorter Greek grammar that was to present some new features prompted by the most recent advances of Greek philology and give an improved modern statement of some traditional material. This work Professor Babbitt has almost finished. It will be published in the autumn by the American Book Co. The same publishers are issuing for Professor Johnson a Manual of English and of American Literature. Dr. Mixter has well under way a History of English Economic Theory with special reference to Overproduction and Overaccumulation. Charles Scribner's Sons have published for Mr. Honey Parts I and II of First Principles of Linear Perspective and report a favorable reception of the book by colleges and schools. Mr. Pynchon has published in the Connecticut Magazine, of which he is an assistant editor, a series of articles on The Iron Industries of Connecticut, and in the number of Bird Lore for February an article entitled "Everyday Study of Birds for Busy People, including a Method of Recording Observations."

Mr. Carlton is the author of the Introduction to a facsimile reprint by the Acorn Club of a remarkable little book of the Colonial Era, "A Short Catechism Drawn Out of the Word of God."

The title page states that the catechism was by "Samuel Stone, minister of the Word at Hartford on Connecticut." The imprint says that it was printed in "Boston in New England by Samuel Green for John Wadsworth of Farmington 1684."

The Acorn Club is organized for the purpose of printing in form to have a typographical resemblance to the originals, rare books and ancient documents and to print documents from original manuscripts. "Samuel Stone's Catechism" is a very rare book, only two copies of the original being in existence. The club has had one hundred copies printed.

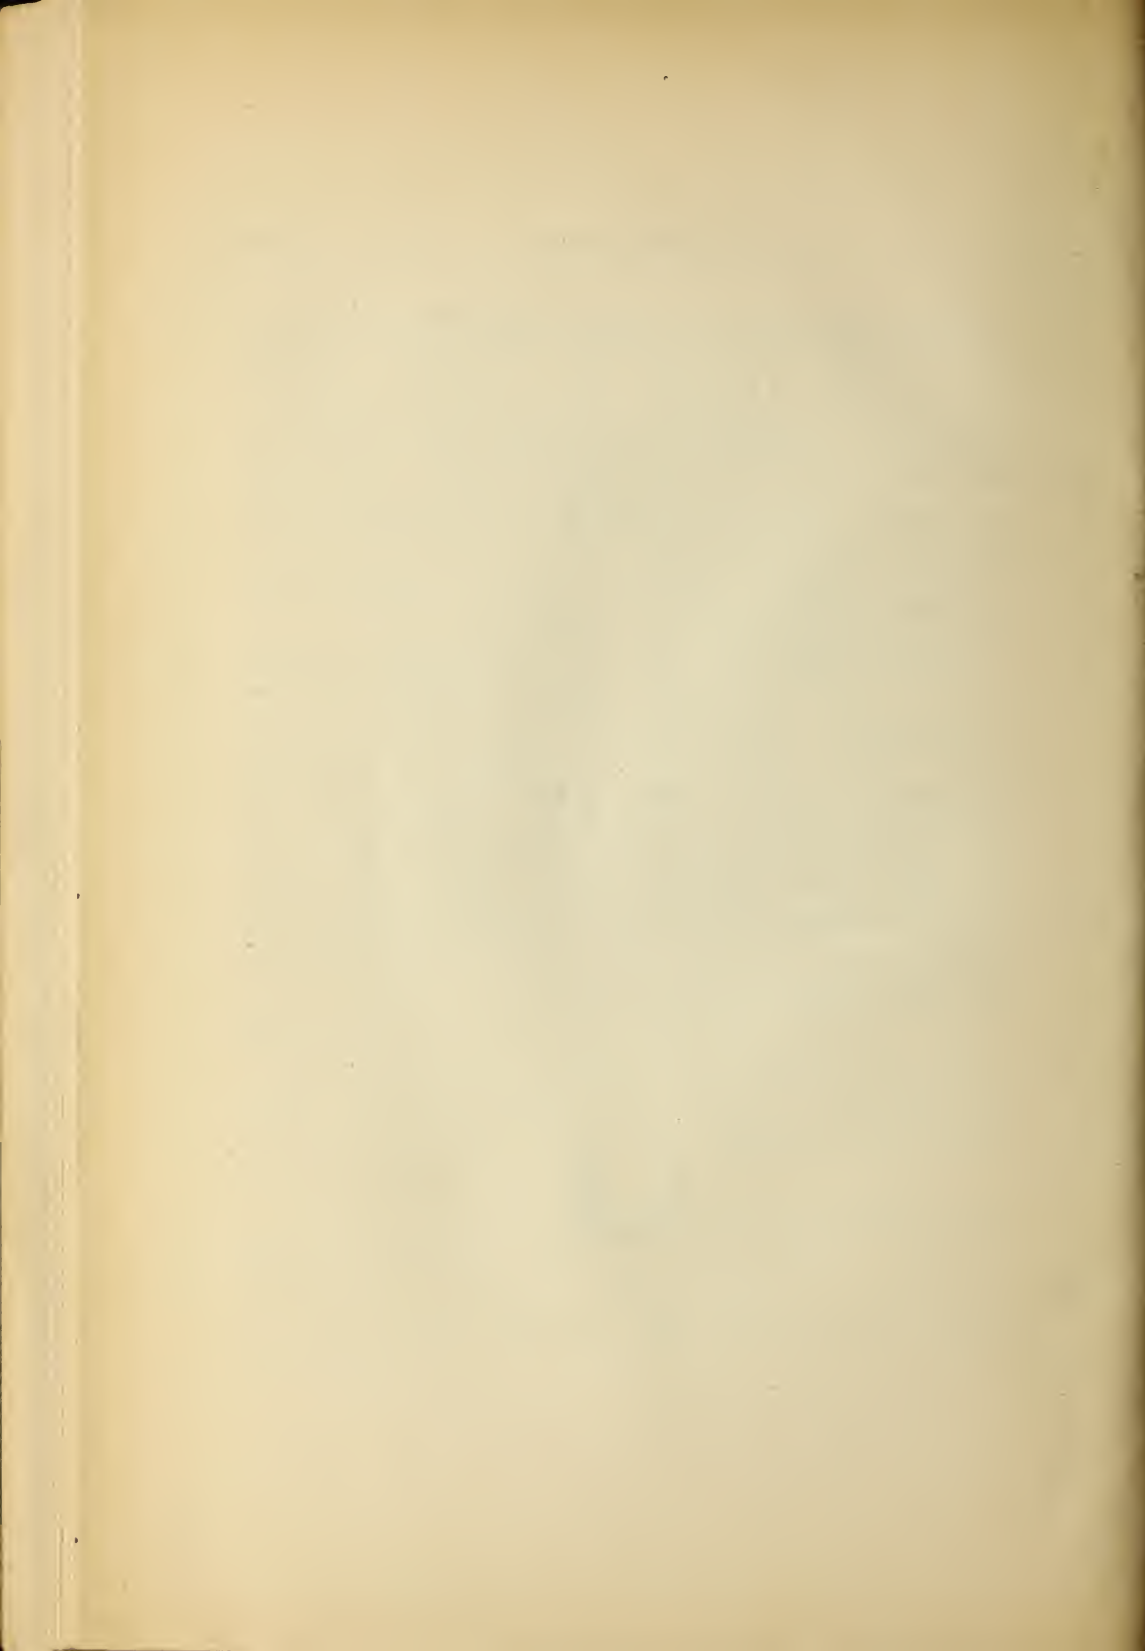

In the biographical sketch of the Rev. Samuel Stone in the volume it is stated that he was a native of Hertford, England, the son of John Stone, a free-holder of that place. He was born in 1602. He was educated at Cambridge University. He accompanied Thomas Hooker to this country, and with him came from Newtown, Mass., to the banks of the Connecticut River, where they founded Hartford. Mr. Stone's view of church government was said to be "a speaking aristocracy in the face of a silent democracy." He died in 1663. The doctrines in the Catechism are stoutly orthodox.

Professor Babbitt was elected in November a member of the Council of the Archaeological Institute of America.

In her Gymnasium and Athletic Field Trinity College recognizes the necessary connection of physical development and intellectual training. There is a special

Athletics. significance in the enterprise which prompts the students to engage in athletic competitions with institutions scarcely one of which is not much larger. It presages the time when the greater Trinity will contend with her sister institutions on equal terms in every department of effort. Professor Luther has interested himself in the task of raising $10,000 with a view especially to the improvement of the Athletic Field. It is greatly in need of drainage. About $3,000 have been subscribed.
